Description A few km outside Chiang Rai there is a small hamlet, where the palm trees and colourful houses are truly unique. If you visit the place, it's worth staying overnight in the hamlet or at the "Khaotikan House". One kilometre outside of town there is a very interesting watsite, where several markets sell handmade souvenirs. You can visit the local school. Some day you may even find a disabled person who needs help. There are several forts and caves in the vicinity, which you can visit. The Golden Triangle motorbike route, which runs from Chiang Rai to Luang Prabang and beyond, passes the location.J.K. Rowling has revealed for the first time that a new Harry Potter book will take us to the "darkest places" in the wizarding world. The author, whose last Harry Potter book – Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows – was published in July 2007, revealed her plans for a new book in an interview with the Wall Street Journal. Writing in J.K. Rowling's new book – due out later this year – will allow her to reveal more of the darker side of the wizarding world, and also explore themes from her other literary works. The new book, which will be written by Rowling with the help of ghost writer Melissa Rosenberg, will feature a new villain, a character who will be "much darker than Lord Voldemort", according to the interview, and "a new generation of tough, complicated witches and wizards who prove that good and evil are never so easily defined". Speaking of the impact the new book will have on her work as a writer, Rowling said: "If I'm going to keep writing as I have been doing ever since Harry Potter was first published, then I need new challenges." In July, Rowling hinted that the new book would include more magic. She said she was "at the beginning of the first
